

GOD LEADS YOU THE WAY TO GO

Psalm 32:8 I will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go; I will counsel you with my loving eye on you.

Life is not always like walking on a straight path in a beautiful garden with flowers around you. Everything is smooth and wonderful. Sometimes life is difficult, and you are not sure which way you should go. Options are many but the right choice is not clear? Do you sometimes want someone to counsel you? I am sure you had at a time, and maybe now. However, who should be the one you seek counsel from?

God in Psalm 32:8 states He is the one. He will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go. Isn't it wonderful! The ultimate wisdom should be from God.

Further, the second half of the verse states "I will counsel you with my loving eye on you". I like the translation of using "my loving eye". He loves us, and He knows all about you and me as well as each of our situations. He is watching you.

Therefore, go seek the loving God. You can pray, read the Bible for wisdom, ask your church leaders, etc. God can talk to you in various ways. With God's loving teaching and guidance, you will be able to walk on a wonderful path with peace and joy by faithfully follow Him.
